ACHC Awards Accreditation to Allied Health Resources' Subsidiary

ATLANTA, GA., December 8, 2009 – Allied Health Resources announces today that the Accreditation Commission for Health Care, Inc. (ACHC) has awarded accreditation status to Laurel Baye Health Care, a subsidiary of Allied Health Resources (AHR), for services of durable medical equipment (DME).

ACHC, a private, not-for-profit corporation which is credited to ISO 9001:2008 standards, was developed by home care and community-based providers to help companies improve business operations and quality of patient care. Referring to the value of accreditation, ACHC President Tom Cesar indicated, "The survey process leads an organization to examine its policies and practices continually to clarify its strengths and improve its weaknesses."

"Having Laurel Baye receive ACHC accreditation is important to our company and offers customers additional confidence in the services that not only Laurel Baye provides but also with all the products and services that all of AHR offers," says AHR President Bernie Ross.

Accreditation is a voluntary activity where healthcare organizations submit to peer review of their internal policies, processes and patient care delivery against national standards. By attaining accreditation, Laurel Baye has demonstrated its commitment to maintain a higher level of competency and strive for excellence of its products, services and customer satisfaction.

Allied Health Resources (AHR) is a healthcare company that markets medical products and services to both consumers and medical professionals.
